

Save Money. Save Time. Save Earth.

Go Green with Range Repair Warehouse, LLC! Shopping online just got the thumbs up!

Did you know you can decrease your impact on the environment by shopping online with Range Repair Warehouse? A recent study by Carnegie Mellon University's Green Design Institute found that shopping online consumes less energy and reduces carbon dioxide emissions by 35 percent compared to shopping at traditional stores.

Buying from a Traditional Retail Outlet

Individual consumers drive by car from their facilities to the nearest retail outlet to pick up parts and products and then return to the facility to make necessary repairs.

The study documented energy use and carbon dioxide emissions generated through the complete cycle of buying a product using Range Repair Warehouse's distribution and delivery channel as well as through traditional retail store operations. In fact, the study showed that 65 percent of total carbon dioxide emissions generated by shopping at retail outlets related to consumers driving to and from the stores. Results showed that, on average, Range Repair Warehouse's model fared better in reducing carbon dioxide emissions and energy consumption with fewer steps in getting products from our warehouses to golf course and driving ranges.

Buying from Range Repair Warehouse, LLC

The product along with many other products are taken in a systematic and highly efficient route to individual homes via a light-duty delivery truck.

Paperless Transactions

All transactions, invoicing, statements and payments will occur electronically reducing the need for paper, postage and unnecessary duplication.

Electronic Catalog

Our entire catalog is online. Instead of groping through piles of supplier catalogs, one click of you mouse brings you to the most up to date, comprehensive, easy to navigate websites in in the industry.

Reusable Packing Material

RRW is committed to reusing pallets, boxes and packing materials whenever possible reducing the necessity and expense of new packing all the time and reducing the expenditure of natural resources

By shopping on Range Repair Warehouse, LLC, not only can you get the best selection, same day shipping on most products, and the most value for your dollars, you can also feel good knowing that you've chosen a greener way to shop.